Sydney Showground & Royal Agricultural Society of NSW In-house Audio Visual Partner

Sydney Showground and the Royal Agricultural Society of NSW have announced that Harry the hirer Productions has been appointed a preferred partner for all in-house audio visual requirements.

After a robust four month review and tender process, Australia's largest production rental house has showcased its ability to help lead and shape the companies AV vision for years to come.

"We need a partner by our side who will continue to push boundaries and support our clients with fantastic AV vision, Harry the hirer has proven its ability to provide that service." - Chief Operating Officer Darryl Jeffrey, Sydney Showground.

Simon Finlayson, General Manager of Productions says Harry the hirer looks forward to a great partnership - "Our range of industry leading technical services, including non-traditional AV services, such as rigging and electrical reticulation, will benefit many events and exhibitions held within the venue, with the added advantage that a large number of clients will already have strong connections to our team."

Harry the hirer will provide a full production range for over 100 events including the 2019 Sydney Royal Easter Show beginning this month.
